

There are many reasons for choosing to embark on a LITE course.

TLS Lite

For personal spiritual growth

LITE is a tool for helping people to develop in their own spirituality and discipleship.

The applied learning approach, the content of the units and the group encounters all encourage personal reflection and growth.

For this purpose, particular courses may be selected as appropriate if an individual does not want to tackle them all. Additionally, the units may be used for personal study, although from experience, the opportunity for group encounter is crucial to getting the best out of LITE.

For enriching leading and experiencing worship

LITE is a tool for:

- those who are called on to plan and/or lead worship in their own congregations or clusters/groups
- those who just want to learn more about worship and its background
- those who would welcome some 'refresher' opportunities.
- those who seek recognition or accreditation as lay preachers. If your objective is either of these, the approach you take will be determined by whether you are seeking Local Recognition or Assembly Accreditation.

USING THE BASIC APPROACH

LITE Units offer the standard that the United Reformed Church sees as a minimum if you are seeking to be a Locally Recognised Lay Preacher. For this recognition it is normally recommended that five courses should be tackled in the following order:

- Introductory Course: You, the Bible, God and Worship
- Getting to Grips with the Bible
- Talking about God
- Leading Worship
- God's Word for Today
